

Patent Portfolio Settlement Agreement

Facebook has granted AGIS the rights to two of its patents. And Facebook and WhatsApp receive a license to access AGIS patent portfolio.

JUPITER, FL, US, November 9, 2021 -- AGIS Software Development LLC today announced that it has entered into a settlement agreement with Facebook and WhatsApp to settle a patent infringement lawsuit brought by AGIS against WhatsApp.

Under the terms of the agreement, Facebook and WhatsApp have received a license to access AGIS's patent portfolio. As part of the settlement, Facebook has also granted AGIS the rights to two of Facebook's patents.

Additional details regarding the terms of the settlement were not disclosed. "We are pleased to have settled the outstanding litigation with WhatsApp," said Cap Beyer, CEO

“

... we are pleased to have settled the outstanding litigation with WhatsApp,"
Malcolm K. Beyer, Jr. CEO

Mr. Beyer continued that AGIS has also successfully settled patent infringement lawsuits with 6 other large firms and continues to explore licensing arrangements with other firms for AGIS's patent portfolio, which includes 23 U.S. Patents. "We will continue to defend our patents against infringement actions from all firms, large or small."
